Confronting Social Barriers in Adolescence

Conference Speaker Information

Robert Rhode, Ph.D.

Dr. Robert Rhode is an Assistant Professor of Clinical Family Practice at the University of Arizona and a Clinical Assistant Professor in Applied Behavioral Health Policy at Arizona State University. He also doesn't know much about either's basketball teams but has some things to say about motivational interviewing. He has conducted trainings for groups as small as three and as large as 450, from Americus Georgia to Bethel Alaska, for physicians, dentists, counselors, nurses, social workers, parole officers, and students. Participants in his workshops have had clients who are overcoming mental disorders, substance use disorders, dual disorders, homelessness, or improving health related behaviors. His trainings describe the concepts and make them memorable using popular media like movies. Bring your thinking and your popcorn.
